UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

MAJOR EVAN A. GLENN

Maj Evan A. Glenn is the Operations Officer of the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFROTC) Detachment 915 at West Virginia University. He is responsible for Detachment operations to include overseeing the cadet wing, leadership training, and mentorship of the Detachment's officer candidates to prepare them to commission as Air Force officers.

Major Glenn received his commission through the AFROTC program while attending Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University where he earned a Bachelor of Science in Aerospace Engineering in 2014. As a Logistics Readiness Officer, he has held assignments in Aerial Port and Logistics Readiness Squadrons, but has also been assigned to Nuclear Operations, Security Forces, and Civil Engineering units. Prior to his current position, Capt Glenn was the Contingency Training Flight Commander for the 435th Construction and Training Squadron, Ramstein Air Base, Germany where he oversaw 51 instructors across 15 Air Force Specialties. He was responsible for training over 3,000 students a year through a variety of courses including Silver Flag, a Department of Defense Fire Academy, and Mission Essential Equipment Training.
